Working Together Workshops

Managing Your Injury, Illness, or Disability: Wellness for Work

In this workshop, we will discuss practical strategies to manage your injury, illness, or disability in the workplace. We'll cover how to set S.M.A.R.T. goals and develop a personal Wellness Action Plan to improve your physical and emotional health. Don't miss out on this great opportunity to improve your health and further your career!

How to Develop a Targeted Resume

Employers and recruiters may spend less than 1 minute looking at a resume. In this workshop, you'll learn how to make your resume stand out from the crowd. We'll share tips to help you develop a top-notch, branded, and targeted resume. We will also spend time reviewing the unique challenges faced by people with disabilities.

Disclosing Your Disability to Potential Employers

Disclosing your disability is a subject many people struggle with when entering the workforce. At this workshop, we'll talk about the many aspects of disclosure and what they mean to you. Working on how to comfortably disclose is very useful throughout your job search and practicing with people before disclosing to potential employers can make the process much easier.
