EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY

Nurse Practitioner, Fraser West First Nations Primary Care Centre

Contract (up to 1.0 FTE, ± 1,680 hours), Fraser Salish, BC

Description

The Nurse Practitioner (NP) is part of FNHA's First Nations-led Primary Care Initiative (FNPCI). FNPCI aims to improve access to culturally safe, quality primary health-care services for First Nations people across BC in a way that is closer to home. Health Care Centres are being developed in rural and urban locations across the province, where clients could feel safe, welcomed, valued, respected and heard when they access these care services at one of these centres.

The NP will be placed in the Fraser West First Nations Primary Care Centre (FW-FNPCC), based in the western part of the Fraser Salish Region. The facility will be serving the members of the Katzie, Tsawwassen, Kwikwetlem and Semiahmoo First Nations, as well as the diverse Indigenous population living in the western part of the Fraser Region, including Burnaby, Tri-Cities, New Westminster, Pitt Meadows, White Rock and Delta.

As an NP, you will be the primary provider for a given patient panel. You'll be collaborating with a team to provide patient care, and to support Western and Traditional Wellness practices. A minimum panel size is typically expected to reach 600 patients per 1.0 FTE by year 3, and will be confirmed in the clinical service contract. You will also be travelling to different sites to be available for appointments within the community.

Responsibilities

- Provide primary care in a culturally safe environment that recognizes the physical, mental, emotional, and spiritual aspects of the client and their family.
- Comply with the policies and procedures of acceptable BC health and wellness regulations and standards.

Qualifications

- A Master's Degree – Nurse Practitioner (Family)
- An active practicing license in good standing with the BCCNM
- Trained in Cultural Safety & Humility, or are willing to take this training
- A valid driving license and willingness to travel throughout the region
- Experience working with First Nations people and communities, and providing culturally safe care is an asset

Salary Range:

Compensation is detailed within the contract and aligns with provincial norms, which are revised from time to time. NPs are not required to make a contribution towards clinic overhead.
