Medical Consultant

No fixed salary. Rates are tied to those of the BC Medical Association.

The Billing Integrity team tackles complex billing reviews that help safeguard the fairness and accuracy of our health care system. The team includes a Senior Director, an Audit Manager, two audit team leads, seven senior auditors, and two administrative staff, and works closely with the medical consultant, medical inspectors, legal counsel, data analysts, and others across the ministry. Their work has a clear impact-recovering ineligible payments and supporting the long-term sustainability of the Medical Services Plan. It's a skilled and collaborative team that stays flexible and consistently supports one another.

As a Medical Consultant, you'll use your clinical experience to support fair and accurate billing across the health care system-reviewing audits, advising on cases, and helping guide important decisions. You'll be part of a thoughtful, multidisciplinary team that values collaboration, diverse perspectives, and meaningful impact. This is a role where your expertise supports not just policy, but people-helping strengthen trust and fairness in health care for both practitioners and patients.
